ALEXANDER MERGOLD

Alexander Mergold, originally from the U.S.S.R, moved to Canada in 2008 after living in Israel for 17 years. He has been making dolls and marionettes for over 20 years. A virtuosic sculptor Alexander works with polymer and air-dry clays to create one of a kind characters inspired by literature and theatre and his own quirky view of the world.

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION

In this workshop participants, over two days, will construct their own marionette using polymer and air-dry clays. Concepts of three-dimensional sculptural form will be taught in making of the head and hands. Each participant will learn how to string and dress their puppet. Basic marionette manipulation will also be covered.
